

< Back to Publications

Beneficial ownership data in procurement

Publication date: 11 March 2021

Authors: Tymon Kiepe, Eva
Okunbor

| View in: Spanish
Bahasa Indonesia

Report contents

Download document

Language

Tell us why you're reading this

Share page

Publication type

Briefing

Publication

Topics

Procurement

Sections

Research

Summary

This policy briefing outlines the main ways beneficial ownership data can improve public procurement processes and objectives, and discusses some of the key considerations and decisions that implementers face.

Next page: Overview >

Related articles and publications

Blog post Procurement

Fighting corruption in public procurement with beneficial ownership data in Latin America

In July, Open Ownership joined the UNODC at the Latin America regional conference on anti-corruption and integrity in public procurement processes

Written by Agustina De Luca , Karabo Rajuili

Published: 30 August 2023

Publication Procurement

Advancing beneficial ownership and transforming procurement systems in Indonesia

In the six months leading up to April 2021, Open Ownership undertook a lightning intervention in Indonesia. The project was funded by the UK Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office, and you can read the bite-sized report here

Published: 23 May 2021

Blog post Procurement

Beneficial ownership transparency: Transforming public procurement in South Africa

Written by Karabo Rajuili

Published: 23 February 2021

Open Ownership newsletter

Sign up to receive our latest reports, news and updates

Sign up

Legal

Terms Privacy

Contact us

info@openownership.org

Helpdesk

Press mentions

Jobs with Open Ownership

Follow us

Twitter Linkedin

Facebook Github

Content rights

This work by Open Ownership, unless otherwise noted, is licensed under a
Creative Commons
Attribution 4.0
International License